Natural Law

The child we meet in the very first poem of Come Thunder, "Light Keeper's Daughter," the innocent on the cusp of ecstasy and grief, becomes the soul of this poet who bears witness to love and its wonders, to joy and forbearance, to atrocity and betrayal, throughout this continually astonishing book. The depth of the knowing in these poems is holy. Do not read this book unless you want to better understand your life.

Come Thunder

Poetry. Gay and Lesbian Studies. Kathleen Culver's exquisitely crafted poems will enchant you like beautiful music on a misty Florida night. They will move you from deep belly laughs to tears. Culver, a longtime champion for peace, the environment, and legendary Southern feminist has inspired hundreds over the years to live their dreams. Pick up this book and let it dance into your heart.

Poets & Writers

The latest collection from one of our finest narrative and lyrical poets. The new verse of Andrew Morton bears a strong Romantic imprint, with Keats, Shelley, Goethe and Napoleon making specific appearances throughout the course of the book.

The Treatment of Nature in English Poetry Between Pope and Wordsworth

This collection of 72 poems by six Sheboygan, WI area poets honors the power and elemental nature of water in all its forms, from the natural rush of a river to the human tear. Beautiful, elegiac, contemplative, lyrical--this book belongs on your shelf.

Salt Water

Come Sit with Me by the River is a poetry collection about the joy of nature, a yearning for peace and harmony in this embattled world, the yearnings of the soul to touch the divine, the painful struggle to transcend one's inner darkness and the utter joy of moments of clarity, all of which triggers a response of awareness in the reader. Unlike modern poems gyrating through mist and an endless journey leading to a never ending quest for an unknown destination, this collection steers clear through every lane. Hers is a questioning voice and she is honest to share with us her fears and disappointments. Some of the poems portray the poet's lighter, fun-loving side lending contrast to the more serious ones. The inclusion of her "shadow side" gives this volume a feeling of authenticity and depth and her travel experiences contribute an original perspective and are some of the most powerful in the book. This is an age-appropriate collection of poems, organically reconnecting one with things we might have taken for granted for quite some time. Images and words are clear and understandable, the subjects relatable.

Salt-Water Poems and Ballads

The English Poet Laureate from 1930 until 1967, John Masefield produced a wide range of literary masterpieces, encompassing ballads, nature poetry, adventure novels, social dramas and mythological children's works. His long narrative poems, including the much-celebrated 'The Everlasting Mercy' (1911), shocked the literary orthodoxy of the time with its colloquial expressions and coarseness of themes. Masefield is revered for his endeavour to make poetry a popular art and for his influence on the Georgian movement, advocating respect for formalism, as well as bucolic and romantic subject matter. The Delphi Poets Series offers readers the works of literature's finest poets, with superior formatting. For the first time in publishing history, this volume presents Masefield's complete poetical works, with related illustrations and the usual Delphi bonus material. (Version 1) * Beautifully illustrated with images relating to Masefield's life and works * Concise introduction to Masefield's life * Images of how the poetry books were first printed, giving your eReader a taste of the original texts * Many rare poetry collections digitised here for the first time * Excellent formatting of the poems * Special chronological and alphabetical contents tables for the poetry * Easily locate the poems you want to read * Includes a selection of Masefield's novels and non-

Salt-Water Ballads

"Writing the River traces the steps of a writer who cocks her ear to listen for spiritual reality. The book is a record of her search into everything - rivers and bread and closets - and sometimes, as if by miracle, she finds what she is looking for. And whether she tells about the search or the finding, she writes with utter clarity." - Jeanne Murray Walker, poet, author of Coming Into History "In Writing the River and elsewhere, Luci Shaw's poems provide us with sudden, surprising images and metaphors infused with spiritual significance even when purely about the natural world, and profoundly human and natural even when about a clearly religious subject. Her language is sensuous and musical and highly visual. All who value poetry that includes the spiritual dimension of experience will value hers." -Robert Siegel, poet, author of In a Pig's Eye Luci Shaw is author of eight volumes of poetry, among them Listen to the Green, Water Lines, and Polishing the Petoskey Stone. Her other books include Water My Soul and God in the Dark: Through Grief and Beyond. Since 1988 Shaw has been adjunct faculty member and Writer in Residence at Regent College in Vancouver, British Columbia.

Delphi Complete Poetical Works of John Masefield (Illustrated)

There is elemental life in David Polk's poems, intimate moments when it seems our remove from the natural world-fatal to it-can be bridged. It is the poetry of that connection in daily life and the imagination. The great river floods, a blue wasp sails dreamlike through the house. Suddenly a copperhead lies snake-thick across the hiker's path. The poet's "mind is at once local and transcendent in its reach," says the writer William Benton, and "local" here means the western end of Kentucky where the continent's four great rivers join." The watershed's birds and wildlife, too, are the book's familiars. The poems often slip seamlessly from narration to meditation. On the Ohio, which is immense here, the poet's canoe gains "on a lily pad broken loose and beside it/ a mouse-pale belly up-no longer resisting/ the forward, the careless and incessant forward." The overall sequence of the book follows the seasonal recurrence, and gradually, as it unfolds, a life-span is implied. Though most of the poems center on our relation to the natural world, there are those too that explore the world of the poet's family and other loves.

Writing the River

This volume offers an introduction to British literature that challenges the traditional divide between eighteenth-century and Romantic studies. Contributors explore the development of literary genres and modes through a period of rapid change. They show how literature was shaped by historical factors including the development of the book trade, the rise of literary criticism and the expansion of commercial society and empire. The wide scope of the collection, juxtaposing canonical authors with those now gaining new attention from scholars, makes it essential reading for students of eighteenth-century literature and Romanticism.

Chicorel Index to Poetry in Anthologies and Collections in Print

A collective masterpiece that illuminates premodern Chinese ways of thinking about Nature by comparing them with Europe's, thus also reshaping our understanding of the corresponding Western concepts, and using the frequent partial similarities in the context of overall contrasts to define the differences that have been historically critical.

Drinking the River

Salt River Songs is Sam Hunt's latest collection of poems, written over the last few years in his house that sits amongst a grove of totara trees on the Arapaoa, one of the five main salt rivers of the Kaipara Harbour. As always, his unflinchingly honest, elegiac and moving poems roam around familiar themes of family, friends and lovers, and the challenges of ageing and mortality. Salt River Songs will also have an introduction from writer and journalist Colin Hogg, an old friend of Sam's and, appropriately, will be published to mark Sam's 70th birthday.

Salt Water

This collection explores nautical themes in a variety of literary contexts from multiple cultures. Including contributors from five continents, it emphasizes the universality of human experience with the sea, while focusing on literature that spans a millennium, stretching from medieval romance to the twenty-first-century reimagining of classic literary texts in film. These fresh essays engage in discussions of literature from the UK, the USA, India, Chile, Turkey, Spain, Japan, Colombia, and the Caribbean. Scholars of maritime literature will find the collection interesting for the unique insights it offers on individual literary texts, while general readers will be intrigued by the interconnectedness that it reveals in human experience with the sea.
